Start thinking about your favorite book you have read or listened to this year as a fourth grader. It can be a book you have at home, one of our read aloud books, a book we read together in class, a guided reading group book, a library book ... Choose a book that you can talk about and use for an end of the year project. I will explain next week!

Grades

As you finish your assignments for this week, if you have things I assigned from other weeks that you didn't get to do yet, try to finish those up, too. Please keep all the Blizzard Bags and written work in a safe place. We will be told how and when to collect it.

It's a good idea to keep logging in and working on an educational site a couple times a week. Just like you have to practice sports to keep up your skill, you have to practice reading to keep growing as a reader! I can see some of you haven't logged in yet - it's not too late, start today!

Thanks for your hard work! Everything you do now is helping you be ready to get back to school as a fifth grader. ♥
