Parents and Students,

I know the challenges that the remote learning can bring and I am hoping to keep the process as simple as possible, while maintaining some continuity in reading, writing, math, science, social studies, and physical activity. Please reach out to me if you have any questions or concerns:

First Grade-Week 4 Lessons-April 6-10th

Reading and Writing:

*Students need to read at least 10 minutes daily. This can be a book of choice from home, books from online sources, poetry notebooks, or a short story from a children's magazine (such as Highlights for Children), etc. This will maintain their fluency and expression in reading.

*Choose at least two stories to read for the week and respond in your writing journal by selecting one of the responses attached to this paper.

*If you do not have a book, enclosed are reading resources you may use for responses.

*We will have a Zoom session for reading, which will include a response to reading. If you are not able to log into Zoom, I will contact you to set up an alternate plan.

Math:

In your math workbook, continue as follows:

Monday, April 6 - Complete lesson 9.1, pages 320,321

Tuesday, April 7 – Complete lesson 9.2, pages 322, 323, 324, 325 – I will plan to Zoom on this day so that we can do the lesson together and go over other concepts in this module.

Wednesday, April 8 – Complete lesson 9.3, pages 326, 327

Thursday, April 9 – Complete lesson 9.4, pages 328, 329, 331

Friday, April 10 and April 13 – No School – Easter/Spring Break

Along with doing Lexia, don't forget about the Lexia Reading Skills Home Activities on the Washington website, which includes some great reading activities. The optional Week 3 Letter includes some great activities incorporating all subject areas with physical activity. All of these resources can be found on the Washington Elementary website under Staff Pages (Mrs. Serra). Again, scholastic.com, abcmouse, and infOhio (BookFlix) offer free book resources of stories that students may read online.

**Please remember Zoom is an optional activity. I would love to see as many of the first graders as I can in attendance, as it is a way to connect and will be a way for me to do some instruction. However, I also realize that Zoom sessions may not work out with family computer schedules, regular family schedules, or internet issues. Please do not stress about this. We will make it all work out. If they are able, have them attend a session when they can. I would love to see them! If not, I will still keep in touch through email, etc.

Parents, thank you for your continued support, guidance, and patience as we navigate through this...you are truly your child's best teacher!

Have a great week!

Mrs. Serra ☺
