ServSafe® Food Manager
Training & Certification Exam

The ServSafe® Food Manager Certification is a nationally accredited program that is designed for managers, chefs, restaurant owners, and others with supervisor responsibilities in the food industry. This 15-hour training course includes the ServSafe® certification exam, which is accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and the Conference for Food Protection (CFP).

ServSafe® training is recognized by more federal, state, and local jurisdictions than any other food safety certification. The ServSafe® Manager Certification verifies that a manager or person-in-charge has sufficient food safety knowledge to protect the public from food-borne illness. A food safety certification is mandatory in many states; however, different states and counties sometimes have different certification guidelines and requirements. This course is an Ohio Level 2 Certification.
