Principal's Note

WE ARE THANKFUL

Dear Families,

November marks the start of a busy holiday season, and we want to take time to tell you how thankful we are for your partnership. We thank you for every minute you spend reading to your child, completing homework with your child, and talking to your child about what they learned. We thank you for all the ways you encourage your child to be kind to themselves, kind to others, and kind to the environment. We are grateful for the talented and hard working children you send to Washington every day. Your investment in your child's education shows.

Our staff works tirelessly to ensure that every child succeeds and that every child realizes their full potential. It is our hope that your child and you feel the love and teamwork that characterize our days at Washington.

We are one. One powerful team. We are Washington.

Sincerely,

Jessica Dugan
Principal

OUR KIDS MATTER

Building Literacy at Home

Young Children

- Read books and nursery rhymes aloud together
- Talk daily about home and community life
- Sing, draw, and tell stories

Older Children

- Play word games
- Discuss word meanings
- Point out interesting or unfamiliar words
- Ask questions before, during, and after reading

Adolescents

- Talk about learning and connect to school
- Offer a literacy rich environment
- Model reading and writing

Supporting Your Child's Literacy Development at Home

Take part in literacy experiences at home. Taking part can develop your child's reading ability, comprehension, and language skills. It could also improve your child's interest in reading, attitude towards reading, and focus.
