Learn about different shaped wings of native Ohio birds. Participants will receive a BirdZine (small paper booklet) that shows how to identify birds in flight from our perspective on the ground looking up. Budding artists will then create two feathers of their own unique design. One feather to take home and one feather will be left behind to create a beautiful set of wings later this summer. In July, during the second week of the Lancaster Festival, the wings will be on display at the Decorative Arts Center of Ohio. All supplies are provided. Register beginning May 31 online at fcdlibrary.org or by calling (740) 653-2745, extension #140.
